Kylie Cutten

Australian Facilitation Company Senior Consultant

Kylie's success as a coach and facilitator stems from her genuine interest in supporting people to recognise the strengths they bring to leadership roles, while exploring relevant and practical solutions to their specific challenges including 'work life integration'. Kylie understands the challenges of leading a full and rewarding life while remaining an effective leader and business owner. Her coaching style focuses on a holistic approach with shared responsibility and accountability to support a person to be the leader, team member and person they aspire to be.

Kylie's authenticity and superb communication skills enable her to connect with people of all backgrounds. She regularly coaches leaders and develops organisational strategic to operation plans working with board members, senior executives through to frontline employees to ensure engagement and effective implementation. She possesses qualities of a natural coach and facilitator; universal humour, exceptional communication skills, and thorough research and consultation skills. She is committed to delivering thought invoking experiences that create lasting change.

Kylie has over 20 years' experience in leadership, developing teams and leading organisational change. She has successfully developed and led a wide range of successful and award winning projects for a variety of organisations, including global companies, remote Indigenous communities and government agencies.

Kylie has supported and developed leaders across a broad range of organisations such as, Seven West Media, JAXON Construction, BHP, Woodside, Camco Engineering, Boral, University of Western Australia, Natural Resource Management, WA Police Academy, WA Singapore Business Council, St John Ambulance, WA Asian Business Council, WA Insurance Commission, Juniper, Inpex, United Engineering Malaysia, Synergy and WA Department of Food and Agriculture.
